Environmental Policy

Since 1947 Day Group Ltd. has steadily developed to become one of the UK's largest independent suppliers of natural, manufactured, recycled and bagged aggregates as well as a market leader in services to the water treatment industry. The Company is committed to providing high quality construction materials and associated services to its customers. This is achieved through customer focused and highly competent staff, an extensive network of strategic locations and a sizeable fleet of company-owned heavy goods vehicles.

Day Group recognises the significant potential impacts of its operational depots and HGV fleet and is committed to the prevention of pollution and protecting the environment including the communities that are affected by its operations.

To support Day Group's approach, we will ensure that:

- We regularly review, continually improve and effectively implement our Environmental Management System (EMS) in order to improve our environmental performance. This includes monitoring our environmental performance and setting environmental objectives and targets.
- Our senior management team demonstrate leadership on environmental management and its implementation, ensure all employees feel empowered to implement and comply with the Company's EMS and procedures and ensure there is a company-wide culture to support this.
- We provide training for our employees to ensure they understand the EMS, their role and responsibilities and their contribution to environmental protection and performance.
- Our operating procedures reduce the exposure of our employees and our local communities to environmental, health and safety risks. We encourage the development and adoption of environmentally friendly technologies.
- We will assess our business against forecasts for climate change and plan actions to ensure we address additional risks and opportunities identified.
- We will reduce our carbon emissions by using resources efficiently, investing in sustainable resources and utilizing more sustainable modes of transport.
- We engage with local communities, trade associations and regulators.
- We understand and meet our compliance obligations, including relevant industry codes of practice.

The implementation and communication of this Policy will ensure that Day Group fulfils its responsibilities to the environment.
